

Reducing waste, together.

Hotels are working to keep waste out of America's landfills by reducing single-use plastics and other materials, increasing both staff and guest recycling programs, using innovative kitchen management practices, and increasing composting programs.

